AC Hotel Paris Le Bourget Airport

The nine storey building with 122 rooms is located directly at the Le Bourget airport. The newly constructed hotel was inaugurated in February 2015.

Offering proven quality and an excellent price-performance ratio, Voglauer hotel concept was again able to prove its international mastery in Paris. In summer of 2014 a model room was built based on the plan of the assigned architect, Mrs. Anne Charlet of the Volume ABC architecture firm, and project implementation began in November 2014.

A total of 122 rooms along with the hotel's common area were furnished in Salzburg quality. The design of the rooms, dark oak combined with light leatherette, are indicative of simple elegance.

The hotel operator accepted the rooms and common area in late 2014. The hotel is aimed specifically at short-term business guests. It features two conference rooms, a large bar area and a rooftop terrace with a view of the Paris skyline.
